

TRAINING OF WOMEN FOR PASTORAL WORK

Petition Submitted to Universalist Convention.

SUNDAY FULL OF ACTIVITY

Distinguished Ministers in the Pulpits of the Church of Our Father and Other Houses of Worship.

Delegates to the Universalist convention now in progress at the Church of Our Father met at 9 o'clock this morning and after short devotional exercises proceeded to business. Announcement was made that at the closing last night the collection amounted to $53.93. An additional $40 was received this morning.

The Rev. Dr. Demarest, presiding officer of the convention, read a petition from the Women's Centenary Association, in which it was urged that a plan be adopted and put into operation whereby a regular course of training in pastoral work should be instituted for young women of the Universalist Church.

Reports were read from the general superintendent and from Southern missions. The committee on elections reported substitutes for State delegations.

Church Crowded All Day

Sunday was the greatest day thus far of the convention. The Church of Our Father, which seats 1,200 people, was filled morning and evening. The occasional sermon, for which the preacher is elected two years in advance, was preached by the Rev. C. Elwood Nash, D. D., president of Lombard University, Illinois. His text was St. John xiv:23: "And Philip saith unto him, show us the Father and it sufficeth us." The sermon dealt with the history of the Universalist Church and its outlook for the future.

"We are intuitionists," said Dr. Nash. "We welcome the aid of reason and of science, but we feel in the depths of our hearts that God is our Father and the Father of all men. The Universalist Church must live in this faith, preach this truth, if it is to do its great work."

The Rev. George L. Perin, D. D., of Boston, presented the needs of the Japan mission, and asked for contributions to the support of two Japanese Universalists educated in America and just sent back to Japan to work. Sixteen hundred dollars was realized.

At the evening session addresses were made upon "The Secularism of the Day," by the Rev. Effie K. Jones, of Vermont; the Rev. S. D. Case, of New York; and the Rev. J. F. Albion, D. D., of Massachusetts. Mr. Albion spoke with great force of "The Liberalism and Illogicality of the Day." He said in part:

"It has been called an age of indifference, but it is not indifference to spiritual things. It has been called an age of doubt, but it is not doubt of God or of Christ, nor of immortality, nor the great eternal verities. Men never believed in these as today. Still it is an age of doubt. It is doubt of the church, and striking indifference to the church. They say its not sincere, not in earnest, out of vital touch with the life of today."

Opportunity of the Church.

"These are harsh words. But the attitude of the church should not be that of offended dignity, but in all humility to ask. Are these things so? These very dissatisfactions make the opportunity of the liberal church. Beneath these the spirit of the age is in harmony with the spirit of our religion. It is an expectant, forward looking, optimistic age. It is for us as Universalists not merely to preach and pray and sing our great truths, but to incarnate them, embody them in our lives, our daily conduct. Especially the cardinal tenet—open faith and brotherhood of man. We speak of the great American church. America is a democracy. Christianity is democracy. And the church which shall actually embody in its life the spirit of democracy, which is universal brotherhood, will be the American church of the future."

Senator Washington, Minnesota, president of the convention, presided at both sessions. The devotional services were conducted by the Rev. C. E. Rice, of Reading, Pa., in the morning, and the Rev. Henry Irving Cushman, D. D., of Providence, R. I., in the evening.

Many who could not get into the Church of Our Father heard Universalist preachers at the other churches. The Rev. Dr. J. K. Mason, D. D., of Chicago, was greeted by a large crowd at Mount Vernon M. E. Church, South.

The general superintendent, the Rev. Dr. I. M. Atwood, D. D., of New York, preached at the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church. The Rev. Dr. John Coleman Adams, of Connecticut, and the Rev. Dr. George L. Perin, of Massachusetts, preached at the Union Methodist Church, and the Rev. Dr. Henry Blanchard at the Vermont Avenue Christian Church. All Souls Church was crowded to the doors to hear the Rev. Dr. Shuter, of Minneapolis, and the Third Christian gave the Rev. Dr. Hayden, of Maine, a large crowd.

WIFE WANTS DIVORCE; SAYS SHE WAS ABUSED

Had Asked Him Not to Put His Dirty Shoes on Bed.

When Mrs. Rena V. Bayliss requested her husband, John E. Bayliss, not to put his dirty shoes on the bed, she says, he assaulted her and abused her. They were married a little more than a year ago. Now Mrs. Bayliss is suing for limited divorce.

Soon after her marriage in July, 1902, Mrs. Bayliss says her husband became quarrelsome and jealous and showed a violent temper. She says he often assaulted her and made false accusations against her. Mrs. Bayliss asks that her husband be restrained from annoying her while the proceedings are pending. Leckie & Fulton are named as counsel for the complainant.

CAPTAIN NEWCOMER ILL

Capt. Henry C. Newcomer, acting Engineer Commissioner of the District, was not at his desk today, being confined to his home with a slight attack of biliousness. Capt. Chester Harding is acting Engineer Commissioner in the absence of Captain Newcomer.

CHANGING HER ROLE FROM MAID TO MATRON

Ivy Lee Moore Is Now Mrs. Eugene La Grove.

ACTRESS WEDS MILLIONAIRE

Was on Way to Boston to Join Company When Her Lover Persuaded Her to Marry Him.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Ivy Lee Moore, actress, has resolved itself into the simple yet comical, old yet ever new, story of the love of a man for a maid. Miss Moore was married, on October 20, in a church in New Haven, Conn., to Eugene La Grove, a grandson of Isaac Singer, inventor of the Singer sewing machine, and several times a millionaire in his own right.

This morning Mrs. Moore, Mrs. La Grove's mother, said her daughter has been receiving the attentions of Mr. La Grove for some months. The mother first learned of the engagement existing between them last summer, when her daughter was home for the interim between the time she was engaged to marry and the time she was to be married. The announcement of the marriage, which came from the daughter to the mother, was no surprise. Mrs. La Grove promised to write the full particulars while en route for Europe for the honeymoon, so that up to date only the most meager details are known.

No Contract Violated.

Mrs. Moore, however, is quite positive her daughter violated no contract. Mr. Sherbert, manager of the Fay Temple company, desired her to sign at the beginning of the season for three years, but this she declined to do, and up to the time the company went to Boston, on Monday last, no contract had been signed. For this reason, being perfectly free, Miss Moore had hesitated about accompanying the company to Boston, as she was not inclined to go on the day after the wedding.

As the company was about to put on a new play, however, in which she was to have a pleasing part, she decided to go to Boston, and was accompanied there by Mr. La Grove, Eugene La Grove, a member of the "Honey Moon" company, and Marshall Wood, actor of the Kentucky family. Arrived at Boston the friends of Miss Moore persuaded her that she had made a mistake in consenting to go on the road, and she accordingly told the manager of her intention to quit the company, and the party started back to New York.

Married in Church.

When they reached New Haven, Conn., La Grove used his persuasive powers to induce Miss Moore to get off there and end the long engagement by a marriage. She finally acquiesced, and the party left the train. It was a matter of a short time to procure the license, and the wedding was held in a church wedding. Mr. and Mrs. La Grove then went to New York, where they caught an outgoing steamer for Paris. Miss Moore barely had time to write her mother of her marriage, promising a cablegram on her arrival in France, and a long letter, telling her all details of the wedding.

Eugene La Grove is a well-known man about town in New York and Brooklyn. He lived at the St. George Hotel, an exclusive hostelry in the latter town, and was a member of the Crescent Athletic Club.

DEATH OF CONFEDERATE VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR

Captain Muncie Succumbs to Disease Induced by Wound Received in Battle.

Capt. Thomas Quintan Muncie, a distinguished Confederate veteran of the civil war, died yesterday at his home, 1514 I Street northwest, after an illness of three years. His death was indirectly due to a wound received in battle. The injury resulted in Bright's disease of the kidneys. He has been in a serious condition for more than a month.

The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the family residence. The services will be conducted by the Rev. J. B. Perry, of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church. Interment will be at Rock Creek Cemetery.

He is survived by a widow and two sons. He was married twice, his second wife having been Stella Warfield.

Captain Muncie was born at Natchez, Miss., sixty-three years ago. He was a son of Capt. Thomas Muncie, a distinguished hero of the Mexican war and the descendant of a widely known family. He obtained his school education in his native town.

At the outbreak of the war Captain Muncie was residing in Annapolis, Md. He at once took up arms for the South, and was given a commission as captain of Company G, Twelfth Mississippi Regiment. He fought in a number of the deciding battles of the conflict, and gained distinction for gallantry and bravery.

At the siege of Richmond, Captain Muncie was shot through the back, but was not disabled by the wound. About three years ago the injury became more serious, and since then he had suffered great agony.

When hostilities between the North and South had ended Captain Muncie was mustered out of service with his regiment. He again made his home in Natchez, and later went to Kansas, La., to live.

In President Cleveland's first Administration he was appointed chief of the stamp division of the Postoffice Department, and with his family, came to Washington to reside. He remained in the position until after President Harrison's election, and then resigned.

LE GALLIENNE BACK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Richard Le Gallienne, the English poet, returned to this country yesterday on the steamship Arab of the White Star Line, after a three months' visit to England. Mr. Le Gallienne finds the climate of this country better suited to him than that of England, and so practically makes his home here.

NAVY OFFICER DEAD.

Lieut. Commander Martin Birington died at Mansfield, Ohio, on October 22.

FIVE SMALL FIRES IN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Four Hundred Dollars Will Cover Total Damage.

Five fires in the record of the past twenty-four hours. The greatest damage was in the fire in the grocery store of Ezra Gordon, 1024 First Street southeast, at 5 o'clock this morning. The store and stock were damaged to the extent of $200. It is not known how the fire originated.

Shortly after 3 o'clock this morning No. 12 Engine Company was called to the home of William F. Healey, at 14 L Street northwest. An overheated latrine stove caused the fire. When the family awakened the house was full of smoke, and a baby was overcome before it could be got out, but once in the air the infant speedily revived. The flames were extinguished with a loss of $25.

A defective flue set fire to the house of Louis Hahn, 622 Gordon Avenue northeast, yesterday morning. The damage here was $25. Similar damage was done to the house of Andrew Frey, 1227 Thirty-second Street northwest, due to the explosion of an oil stove. In some unknown manner clothing ignited in a closet of the house of Francis Hall, 723 Second Street northeast. The fire was confined to the closet, and $10 damage to the clothing was the only loss.

ASKS AMERICAN AID FOR MACEDONIAN REFUGEES

Native Makes Appeal to State Department.

SAYS 100,000 ARE HOMELESS

Constantine Del Stephanove Pleads for Fellow Countrymen—No Formal Appeal to Red Cross.

Constantine Del Stephanove, a native of Macedonia, who was graduated from Yale in 1896, will appeal to Miss Barton for the assistance of the American Red Cross in relieving the starving women and children who have been made homeless by the Turkish troops.

Mr. Stephanove has called on Assistant Secretary Loomis, of the State Department, several times for the purpose of discussing relief plans, and has been assured that the department will regard with favor any peaceful movement to relieve the suffering in Macedonia.

It is asserted by Mr. Stephanove that 100,000 persons, mostly women and children, are shelterless and without provisions for winter.

Mr. Stephanove will present his cause to various religious organizations, and hopes to have the funds disbursed through the Red Cross or some other charitable organization.

At noon today no formal appeal had been made to the Red Cross for aid in the Macedonian situation.

NO AIM TO BE SENATOR, SAYS SECRETARY SHAW

Not a Candidate in Opposition to Re-election of Dolliver in Iowa.

Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, now in Des Moines, has given emphatic denial to the report that he is a candidate for the Senate against Senator J. P. Dolliver, of Fort Dodge.

The report is to the effect that a strong movement is on, under the surface, to prevent Dolliver's re-election, and that this movement is headed by J. W. Byrhe, general counsel for the Burlington Railroad, who is thought to be working in the interest of Secretary Shaw. There has been more or less talk of this kind for months, but it has been stirred up more than ever by the contest over the State senatorship in the district composed of Butler and Bremer counties, in which there has been a bitter fight for the Republican nomination between two candidates, Soesby and Larkin.

Soesby recently gave out an interview in which he said Byrhe had sought to ascertain the wishes of the voters for the Senate, and if not for whom. The inference drawn was that Byrhe had his knife out for Dolliver, and Shaw was said to be his candidate.

Secretary Shaw's friends and the friends of Mr. Byrhe also deny opposition to Dolliver's re-election. It is pointed out that Shaw appointed Dolliver to the Senate on the death of Senator Gear, and that he declined the senatorship he could have resigned and been appointed by J. C. Millman, then lieutenant governor, who would have been governor on his resignation.

Perhaps it never happened before that both parties to proceedings for divorce were at one time inmates of an asylum for the insane. This is true, however, of Charles R. Morgan and Fannie E. Morgan, who are suing each other for divorce in the local courts.

Mrs. Morgan was formerly Fannie E. C. Morgan, of Alexandria, Va., and was committed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Insane May 27, 1898. On December 5 of that year she was discharged from the institution, after having recovered her mental equilibrium. Charles R. Morgan, who afterward became her husband, was an inmate of St. Elizabeth's at the same time, having been committed September 8, 1898, and was discharged December 3, 1898.

It will be noticed that Mr. Morgan and Miss Carlin were discharged from the institution within three days of each other. Two years after they were discharged from St. Elizabeth's Hospital they were married in Alexandria and came to the District to reside.

In July, 1892, however, Mrs. Morgan was again committed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital and remained there until August 6 of that year. From the testimony given in connection with the proceedings for divorce the domestic life of the Morgans never was happy. In January last Mr. Morgan commenced proceedings for divorce, and soon after Mrs. Morgan also instituted proceedings asking for a legal separation from her husband.

An order was passed by the court requiring Mr. Morgan to pay alimony to his wife while the proceedings were pending. He did not and he was committed to jail for contempt for failing to obey the order. He was, however, released when he proved to the court his inability to comply with the order.

JUDGE SCOTT CRITICISES FREE USE OF CLUB

Policeman Addison Censured for Beating a Prisoner.

Policeman C. A. Addison, a negro member of the Metropolitan force, was the target of much adverse criticism on the part of Judge Scott, in the United States branch of the Police Court, this morning, regarding policeman's misuse of their clubs.

Addison arrested William H. Winkler yesterday on the charge of disorderly conduct, and started to take him to the stationhouse, when Winkler resisted to the extent of grabbing Addison by the coat. From testimony of the court it seems that Addison then began to beat a tattoo upon Winkler's head, and hospital treatment was required to properly close the resulting wounds.

Winkler appeared in court this morning with his head swathed in bandages, and very much the worse for the beating. Addison was the only witness against the man. After hearing the testimony Judge Scott said that Addison's action was unjustified, and he had been too free with his "stick." After severely criticizing the policeman the judge dismissed the case.

MEXICO SEEKS RAILROAD.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 25.—It is reported in financial circles of Mexico that the Vera Cruz and Pacific Railroad, which lost its financial backing through the recent suspension of the Maryland Trust Company of Baltimore, is about to pass into the hands of the Mexican government.

It is known that the government has made an offer for its purchase.

NEGRO EPISCOPALIANS MAY GET NEGRO BISHOPS

Question Is Discussed by Southern Churchmen.

NEW CANON TO BE PROPOSED

Suggested Change, It Is Argued, Would Make Negro Episcopal Church Stronger.

Shall there be negro missionary bishops, having jurisdiction over negro Episcopalians? was the chief subject of discussion at a meeting of the Southern Episcopal bishops in the Pro-Cathedral Church of the Ascension, this morning.

A delegation from the negro Episcopal clergy of this country was present to explain their position in this matter. The delegates were the Rev. G. F. Bragg, Baltimore, chairman; the Rev. C. Bishop, New York; the Rev. George F. Miller, Brooklyn; the Rev. H. L. Phillips, Philadelphia; the Rev. O. L. Waller, Washington; the Rev. W. V. Tunnell, Wilmington, N. C.; the Rev. E. R. Burnett, Raleigh, N. C.; the Rev. Prot. J. W. Johnson, Petersburg, Va.; the Rev. H. S. McDuffy, Jamaica, N. Y.

The delegates from the laity were Dr. J. M. Benson, Richmond, Va.; Dr. J. C. Norwood, Washington; R. R. Horner, Washington; Walter W. Lewis and S. DeCoursey, Baltimore.

The Rev. Dr. Bragg read a paper in which he suggested that a new canon be enacted at the next general convention of the church, providing for the withdrawal of the jurisdiction over the negro Episcopalians from the bishops and the appointment of negro missionary bishops. It was urged such action would make the negro Episcopal church organically stronger.

This meeting of the Southern bishops, rather all the bishops in whose dioceses there are negro communicants, was called by Bishop Dudley, who presided. Among those present were Bishop Satterlee, Bishop Cheshire, Bishop Gallor, and Bishop Hall.

The bishops who have attended the Pan-American conference and those here to attend the missionary council will be present at a reception to be given them in the Corcoran Art Gallery this afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30.

FROM INSANE ASYLUM TO THE DIVORCE COURT

Couple Whose Acquaintance Began at St. Elizabeth's Now Seek Legal Separation From Each Other.

SCHOOLS FOR NEGROES GOOD INVESTMENTS

Booker Washington Thinks They Would Add to Price of Farmland.

GOOD INVESTMENTS

The twenty-second annual report of Booker T. Washington, principal of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, has been received in the city, and it shows the institution to be in an excellent financial and general condition.

That the school is doing exceptional work in teaching the negro to appreciate his position in the social scale, by making him a good farmer, mechanic, or teacher, is called attention to in the report, and then, concerning the moral character of the graduates, the report asserts that not one has ever been convicted of a crime.

Throughout the year the school has an enrollment of 1,550 students, and an average attendance of 1,441. These figures do not include 248 children in the model school, nor 230 special students. The students made 2,900,000 bricks in the school yards, 1,267 garments in the tailor shop, while 51,537 pieces were laundered by the girls in the laundry.

The number of students who are to receive diplomas this year is 113, but it is expected that counting those who have been at the school more than six months, and who are not expected to return, the number is to be increased to 618.

The receipts during the year were $12,049.24 and the expenses $12,135.20. The annual cost of educating and boarding a student was $80, of which the cost of tuition was $50. The indebtedness of the school is $14,675.33.

IN CONCLUSION THE PRINCIPAL SAYS:

"If for no other reason than these financial ones, it would pay those who own the land in the South to see to it that a good school is kept open in every country district. A good school, in my opinion, would soon add 50 per cent to the price of farming lands, because it would soon stop, in a large measure, the exodus of colored people to the cities. Another thing which sends a larger number of negroes to the cities than many realize is the surety of getting police protection in the city when one is charged with crime. I think I do not overstate the matter when I say that for every lynching, or attempted lynching that takes place in the country, a score of colored people leave the country for the city. This whole question is one that should receive very serious attention."

IMPORTANT QUESTION IN TRIFLING LAWSUIT

Supreme Court Passes on Admiralty Jurisdiction of United States, Reversing New York State Tribunal.

The United States Supreme Court gave its opinion in the case of Terry vs. Hayes, in which a suit was brought for the collection of a lien for $154 upon a canal boat in the Erie Canal and which was sold subsequent to the making of the lien for $155.

Although only $1 was involved in the case, it attracted a great deal of attention, because of the fact that the question was involved as to where admiralty jurisdiction of the United States extended and ended.

The supreme court of the State of New York held that the lien could be collected. That decision was reversed by the United States Supreme Court today. Justice Brewer, who gave the opinion for the minority, which was composed of himself, Chief Justice Fuller, Justice Harlan and Justice Peckham, said the admiralty jurisdiction of the United States extended to artificial channels as well as to navigable waters. Justice Brewer held that the contract in this case was made and carried out on land and did not enter into the case.

RIFLES ARE CRACKING ON THE ORDRWAY RANGE

Seventh Annual Meet Begun of National Rifle Association of District. Matches Shot Off Today.

ON THE ORDRWAY RANGE

The seventh annual meet of the National Rifle Association of the District of Columbia was begun on the Ordrway Rifle Range shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, when the targets were raised for competition in the Merchants' Match, in which there were more than fifty entries. The meet will continue until Thursday evening, when twenty-one matches will have been shot. The number of contestants was large today, but the wind which swept over
